Cutts selected for membership in 'Southern Living' builder program

Lake Gaston builder Sid Cutts, III, owner of Corbitt Hills Construction, L.L.C. has been selected for membership in the Southern Living Custom Builder Program.

Cutts is one of 100 builders chosen for the sixteenth year of the exclusive Southern Living builder program. Each year, Southern Living carefully selects members based on their reputation among local businesses and consumers; strength of presence in their respective markets; superior quality and attention to detail; innovative style and other criteria. Builders also have access to the entire Southern Living House Plans Service collection, which includes more than 800 plans created by respected architects and designers throughout the nation.

"The builder program is a natural extension of our overall homes effort, which aims at offering quality designs and new ideas to consumers across the Southeast," said Brent Warren, manager of the Southern Living Builder Program. "We believe we have chosen outstanding builders across the region to help us do this."
